CALVERT HIGH SCHOOL

Foreword

This year, 1953, we celebrate the Sesquicentennial of the admission of Ohio as a state. Pioneers and settlers came into our state and developed the soil, planted crops and harvested in abundance. Among these pioneers and settlers were priests and missionaries.

In these early days there were many hardships and difficulties. Not only did they have to fight misunderstanding, but also the raging weather, Indians, wolves, and all the wilds of the unsettled territory. But with courage and vigor they kept on and firmly established the faith.

To illustrate the building of the faith in this section we have chosen Bishop Fenwick, Father Bihn, Father Healy, Mother Ignatius, and Mr. Joseph C. Arnold. Every part of Ohio that is prospering today is indebted to these pioneers of God. The faith we have today came to us through these men.

So in the year 1953 at the Sesquicentennial of Ohio, we rejoice in the faith so firmly planted by bishops, priests, and laymen.

Bishop of Toledo

His Excellency
MOST REVEREND GEORGE J. REHRING, D. D.

The Diocese of Toledo is very fortunate to have such a fatherly bishop as His Excellency George J. Rehring, D. D. The students of Calvert wish to express their gratitude to Bishop Rehring for what he has done for them personally and for all the diocese in general, during the past years.

He has shown himself a priest who excels in many virtues and qualities. In his triple role of teacher, adviser, and friend, the Bishop proves himself truly the shepherd of his flock.

His letters, the chief source of instructions to the laity, express in sincere and simple style the lesson he tries to teach.

As an adviser he gently but firmly directs the souls under his care toward their eternal goal.

In his role of friend, Bishop Rehring never seems to be too busy to give a friendly greeting or a sympathetic ear to the people who come in contact with him.

The student body sincerely hopes the coming years will be as successful and as holy as were the past ones under the able guidance of Bishop Rehring.

RT. REV. EDWARD D. FENWICK, O. P.

One of the greatest missionaries in Ohio was Bishop Edward D. Fenwick, O. P. He was born in 1768 in Maryland. As he was a native American, he knew the need of missionaries in the new country.

Although Father Fenwick was educated abroad, he returned to this country and came to Ohio in 1808. Sent by Bishop Carroll of Baltimore, he was graciously received by three Catholic families at Somerset. Here he said his first Mass in Ohio. Later the first church in Ohio, St. Joseph's, was built there.

Father Fenwick was not really the first priest to work in Ohio, for several missionaries had visited on expeditions, but he was the first to spend his life for the people of Ohio.

In 1822, the first diocese in Ohio was formed and Father Fenwick made Bishop of the Cincinnati diocese. This diocese included Michigan as well as Ohio. Because he was so poor and could not help his diocese financially, he went to Rome to ask the Holy Father's help. The newly-elected Pope Leo XII assisted him financially. He was also joined by four other priests.

In one of his journeys through Ohio and Michigan he confirmed Indians and Whites at Arbre Choche and Mackinac. On the same journey, Bishop Fenwick visited Port Clinton and Tiffin where churches were to be built.

During his last journey through his diocese, he became sick of cholera and died at Wooster, Sept. 26, 1832. He was truly the "Apostle of Ohio".

Principal

REV. JOSEPH D. SHENK, M. A., B. S. E.

Father Shenk, although burdened heavily with the construction of the new building, has still found time to be a friendly and helpful counselor throughout the entire school year.

Now that graduation time has rolled around again Father has completed another successful school year as principal of Calvert. This, however, is not a true picture of the time put in by Father on his job, because it is never finished; it is a year-round proposition.

Many people think that Father's work here at Calvert ends with the closing of school for the summer vacation, but if they will take the trouble to drive past the school while on their way to go swimming on a hot summer day, they are sure to see his car out in front.

If they wished to investigate further, they would find Father busily working over the schedules of all the students for the next school year, or perhaps he would be checking equipment.

Realizing the many sacrifices made by Father, the entire student body will be forever indebted to Calvert's principal, Father Shenk.

Rev. Edward C. Dunn, M. A.

Assistant Principal

Father Dunn, with his keen sense of humor and very kindly way, goes about his duties quietly, but is always there when someone is in need of assistance. It does not make any difference whether the person in need is a freshman or a senior, or whether the problem is large or small, Father Dunn is always ready to help him in any way he can.

Although Father has to teach his classes every day, and takes an active interest in all of the extracurricular activities, Father still seems to have enough time to take care of the individual person.

For all the help given, temporal and spiritual, the students are deeply indebted to Father Dunn.

Board of Fiscal Control

We would like to thank our pastors, Monsignor Raphael I. Kinnane, pastor of St. Mary's, and the Very Reverend Richard J. Gabel, pastor of St. Joseph's, for making it possible for us to attend a Catholic high school. With their financial help they have born a large part of our tuition. Each high school student in the parishes can make use of this opportunity to attend Calvert.

Our pastors are truly interested in the new building that is going up. With Father Shenk they chose the brick for the new building. They follow the architect's plans and rejoice in the progress of the new unit.

Besides aiding us to obtain a Catholic high school education, they are personally interested in each of us, both in our spiritual advancement and in our school life.

We thank you, Monsignor Kinnane and Father Gabel, for your great interest and aid in our spiritual and temporal welfare.

Religion

Since our Religion is the basis of our life and everything we do depends upon it, we find it outstanding in the activities of Calvert.

To start the year out right and to put the students on a straight course to heaven, Father Gabel said the opening Mass of the Holy Ghost on Sept. 4, the first day of school. Father stressed the importance of a good student working for Christ.

To help us practice our Religion, Rev. Cyprian Terwood, O. F. M., Conv., and the Rev. Aidan Witte, O. F. M. Conv., conducted by the annual retreat Oct. 13-15. The Franciscan fathers stressed the importance of charity to our fellowmen, and showed the value of cheerfulness. The retreat was a time of silence and gave the students the opportunity to think and realize the real purpose of life.

Taking the place of the mission parties, each home room brought in its quota for the missions by self-denial, raffles, and bake sales. These projects were supported wholeheartedly by the students and proved to be more successful than the traditional mission parties.

REV. MICHAEL HEALY

REV. MICHAEL HEALY

Father Michael Healy, pastor of St. Mary's Parish, Tiffin, for over forty-five years, was ever the faithful and devoted shepherd of his people.

When Father Healy came to St. Mary's in 1859, the little parish had a debt of $6,000. He liquidated this in less than four years.

Because of a fire in the old building on Madison St., there was need of a school. Father Healy purchased a two story frame building which was used for twenty years until he purchased a brick building, built on Franklin St.

In 1863, by the request of Father Healy and Father Bihn, four Ursuline nuns arrived in Tiffin to teach in the Catholic schools.

When the purchase of a new cemetery became nececssary, Father chose five acres on Greenfield Road as the site.

Rev. Thomas F. Conlon arrived in Tiffin in 1899 to be Father Healy's first regular assistant. Father Healy found now there was a great need of a new church because of the growing number in the parish. He started collecting funds but, upon the advice of Bishop Horstmann, put the project into younger hands.

Father Healy celebrated his Sacredotal Golden Jubilee in 1901. In August, three years after his jubilee, he died.

He was simple, kind, and true. Comforting those in time of need, he had many friends who mourned his death. Catholics are fortunate to have had such a great priest as a builder of the faith in Ohio.

REV. JOSEPH L. BIHN

On of the early, famous pioneers of Northern Ohio was the Reverend Joseph Louis Bihn. Arriving in the United States from Bavaria, Germany, in 1845 Father Bihn was employed as a clerk in a clothing store in Cleveland.

After working several years in that position, although scarcely able to read or write English, he entered St. Mary's Seminary in that city. About nine years later on June 1, 1856, Father Bihn was ordained by the Most Reverend Amadeus Rappe and eighteen days later was appointed Pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Tiffin; he remained there as pastor for twenty years.

Seeing St. Joseph's sorely in need of a new church, Father Bihn built the present beautiful church, which was some years later partially destroyed by fire.

Father Bihn always had a great love of orphans and remembering the words of Christ "As long as you did it for one of these....." he decided to build an orphanage. So on November 9, 1867, a fifty acre farm was bought on Melmore Road, southeast of the city. Several years later eighty more acres had to be purchased.

The community of Franciscans which Father Bihn founded worked very hard, and the orphans and the aged appreciated the fruits of their labor. Father Bihn, seeing his foundation on a firm basis, turned over the deed to the Citizens Hospital and Orphan Asylum.

Father Joseph Louis Bihn died on August 17, 1893. During his life Father had a great devotion to the Blessed Sacrament and a sincere love of his fellowmen.

On the day of his death the following tribute was written for him in the Daily Advertiser of Tiffin.

"So long as there are orphans, children to nurture and care for, so long as children's humanity shall be touched with pity for the homeless child, just so long will the name of 'Father Bihn' be cherished and honored throughout northwestern Ohio."

MOTHER M. IGNATIUS

The feast of the Assumption, 1831, saw the birth of a true pioneer. Catherine Leahy, later to be given the religious name of Mother M. Ignatius, was born August 15, 1831, in County Cork, Ireland.

She came to Cleveland in 1851. Three years later she answered Christ's call to the religious life and in April, 1854, she entered the Ursuline Convent, Cleveland. The early days of her religious life were spent in Cleveland and Toledo.

On Nov. 10, 1865, Mother Ignatius was sent by Bishop Rappe and Mother Annunciation to become the second superior at the Ursuline Convent, Tiffin. For over twenty years Mother Ignatius, called "Our Mother," held this position.

At the time of her arrival there were already three schools—St. Joseph's, St. Mary's, and a small girls' academy. Under her direction within a few years a three story building, a study hall and a chapel were erected.

In the early days Mother Ignatius performed the duties of superior, school visitor, educator, and mistress of novices. She is known and remembered for her humility, her ability to organize, and especially for all she did to solidify the present Ursuline community.

In 1897, after over forty years of service to God in the Ursuline Order, Mother Ignatius was called by God to enter into eternal life.

Religion

Marilyn Mathias and Richard Nepper are inking the beautiful Christmas poster to be displayed on the bulletin board.

Foundress of the Ursuline Order, St. Angela Merici, surrounded by the girls she dedicated her life to, is pictured in the stained glass window on the first floor.

In the Christmas pageant Martha Distel and Charles Smith represent Our Lady and St. Joseph. Theresa Smith and Barbara Lutz depict the angels, and Danny Ruggiero and Herman Vande Kerkhoff are the shepherds.

Father Shenk teaches the senior boys the most important subject, Religion.

During Religion classes, under the watchful eye of Father Dunn, the lively freshmen look very serious.

Languages

Inter Nos

The Inter Nos, Calvert's Latin quarterly, is appearing for the seventeenth consecutive year. Its current editors, members of the fourth year Latin class, are—Joseph Bihn, Robert Mueller, Joan Gibson, Raymond Gaietto, George Denny, and Pauline Omlor.

Spanish

The seniors who comprise the Spanish II class enjoy their study of the language, history, and customs of our brother-caballeros of Latin-America. Pictured here are Charles Smith, Betty Weller, Frank Dariano, Joseph Reino, Louis Crist, Mary Scholl, Janet Wurm, Robert Amlin, William Brinkman, and Raymond Gaietto.

Latin

The Latin II class is currently engaged with Caesar's pursuit of the Helvetians, and the fine points of Latin grammar.

In the Sesquicentennial year, Albert Hemminger, George Graham, Nancy Renninger, Constance Kimmet, Mary Lou Daniel and Philip Falter exchange comments about the different Ohio books in the library.

Calvert Library

Before these students interested in local history - Barbara Carp, Eugene Stefanelli, William Black, Joseph Sauber, Carmella Paradiso and Barbara Michaels - is spread a map of Tiffin and the surrounding territory.

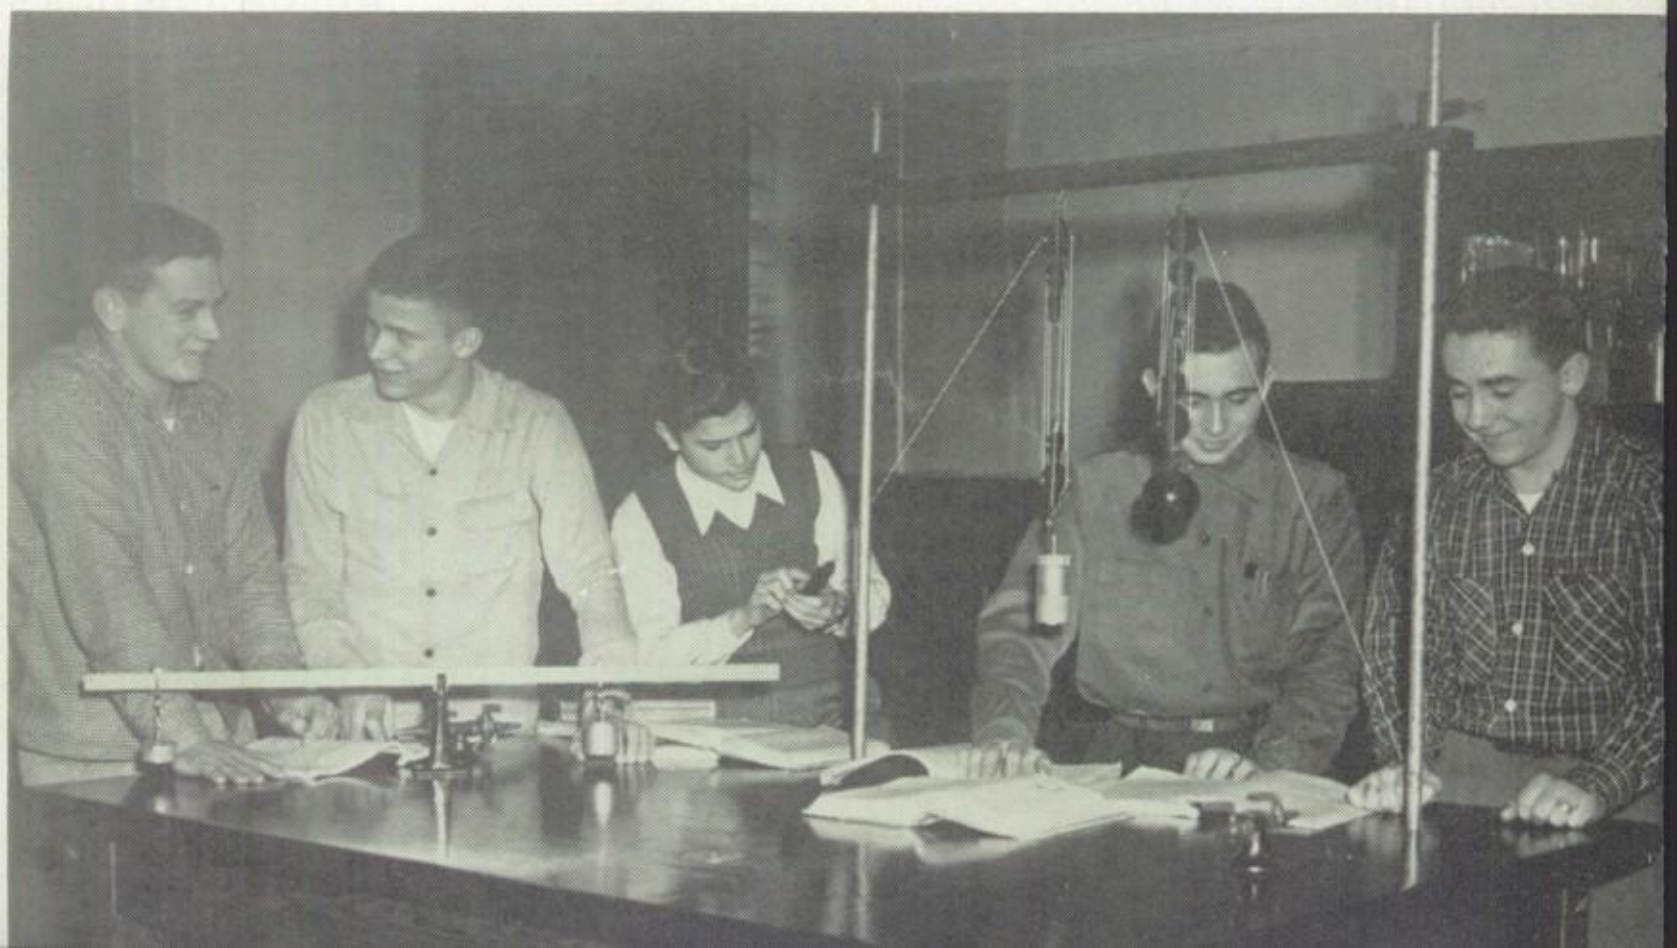
Chemistry

Paul Pirrung, William Brinkman, Chadyne Goshe, and Mary Wilhelm in Sister Maurice's chemistry class are cooperating in the preparation of nitric acid.

Science

Physics

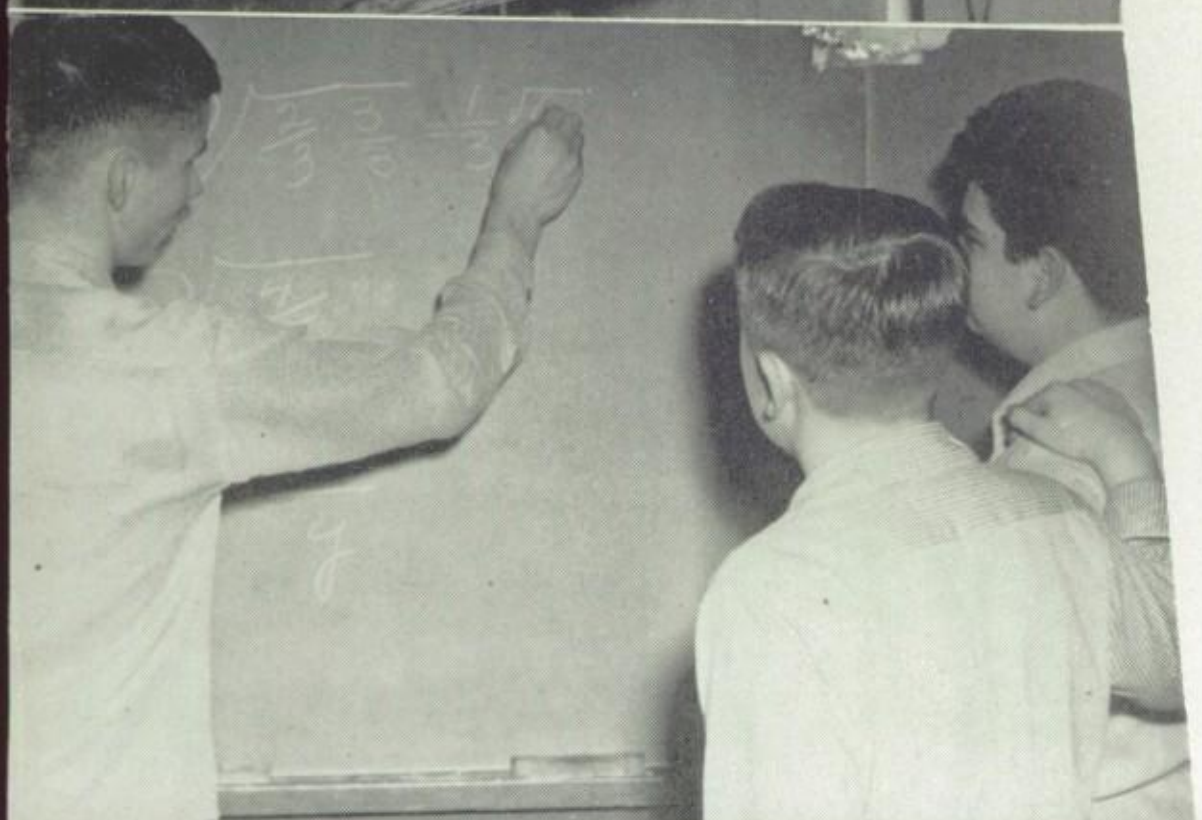
Proving that a little effort in the right place will overcome a large resistance are Denny Bridinger and Paul Rohrbach. Using mechanical advantage to accomplish the same thing are Jan Baumgardner, Robert Reinhart, and Terry Reister.



Biology

Looking over their various assortment of leaves are the star collectors, Jane Rumschlag, Margaret Deer, and Joan Sendelbach.

"Are there so many parts to an ear?" is the question asked by the three biologists-Richard Theis, James Seifert, and Leo Depinet.

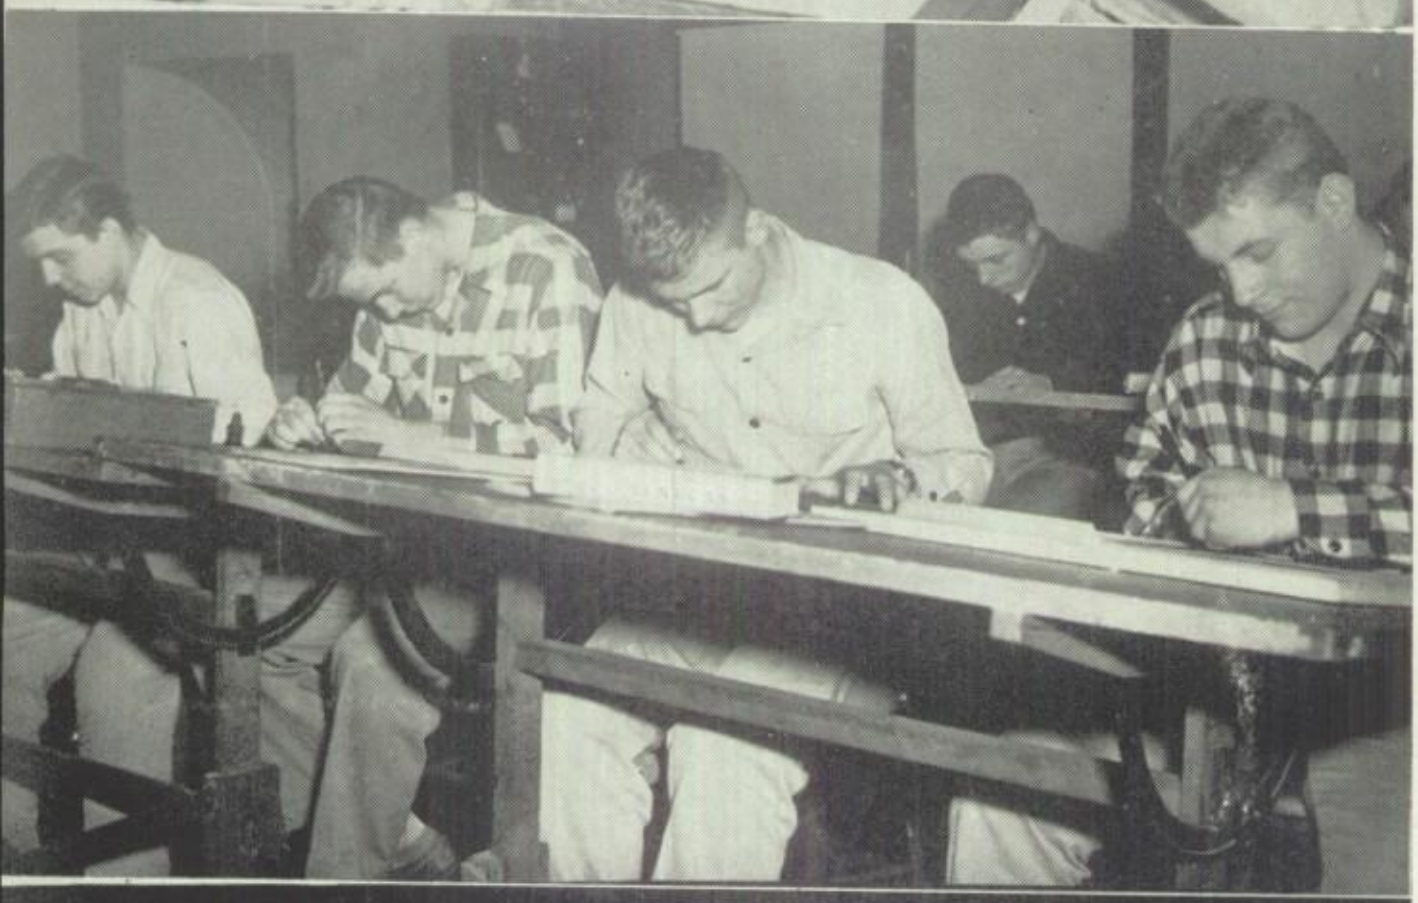


Mathematics

Deeply concerned in simplifying radicals are Paul Rohrbach, John Weisenberger, and Theodore Singleton.

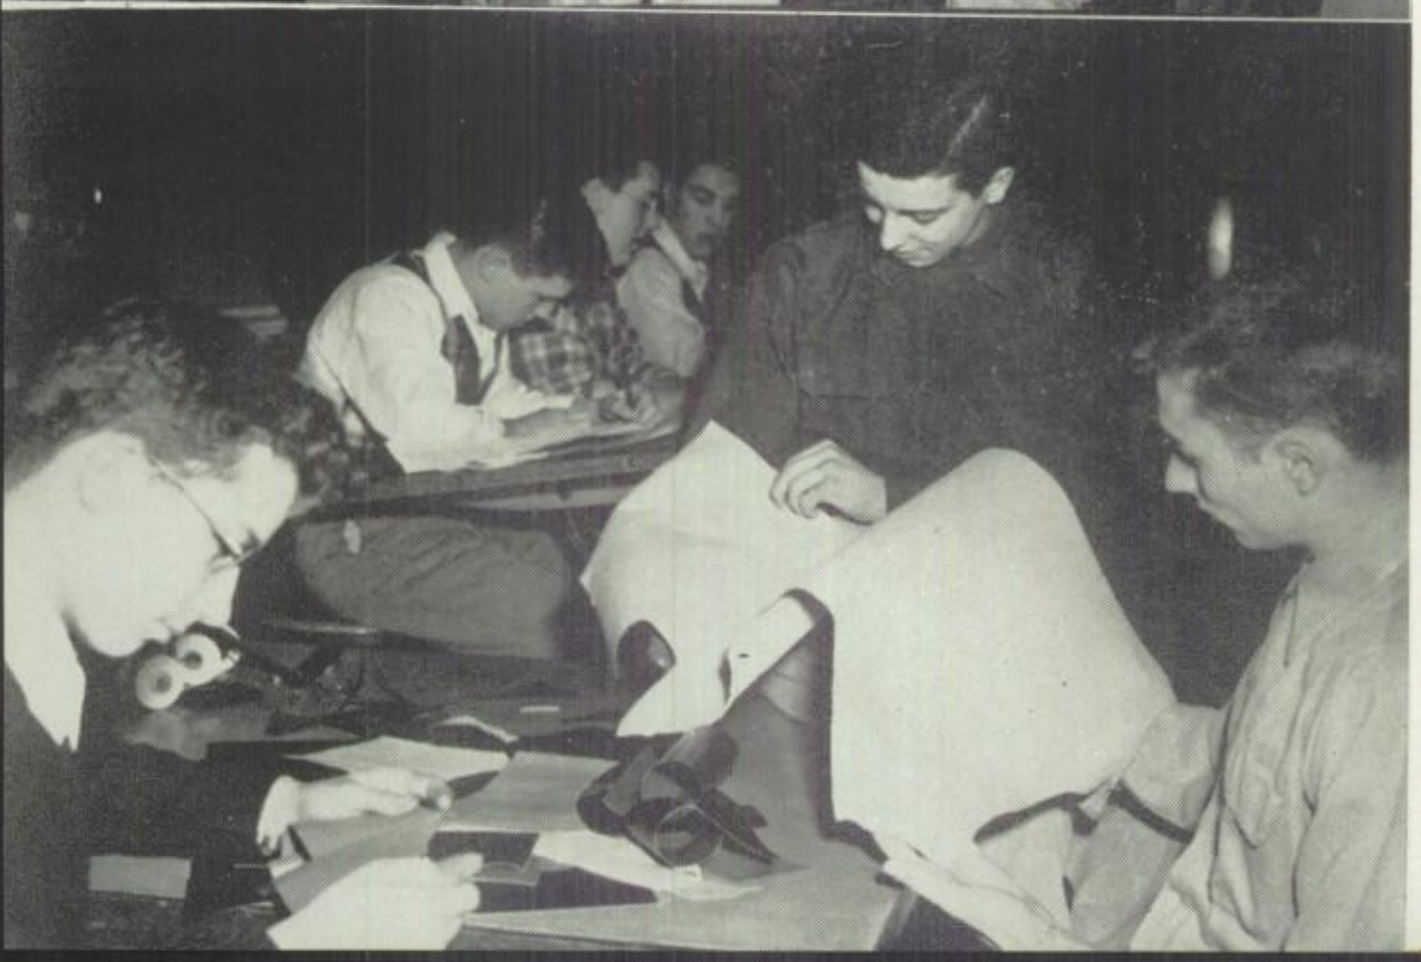
Art

Busy with their art projects are Kenneth Thom, John Distel, and James Miller. Working at the benches are James Rochester, David Omlor, and John San Gregory.



Mechanical Drawing

Working with their mechanical drawing equipment are James Kramer, Richard Anderson, Paul Rohrbach, Thomas Felter, and in the back row is Richard Theis.



Art

Examining a hide of natural calf skin are Thomas Krupp, Anthony Gaietto, and John San Gregory. Tooling at the benches are John Distel, David Omlor, and James Rochester.

Depicting the method of capital punishment during the French Revolution via the guillotine are Ann Ley and Antonetta Perna.

History

Looking very much interested in the subject on hand, the senior girls become a little more acquainted with the American government, with the help of Mr. Karl Zalar, instructor.

While Mary Sue Baumgardner takes Sue Mitten's dictation, Roger Welter and Louis Robenalt point out Nicaea on the map.

La Donna Blust and Patricia Miletti read the recipe for an angel food cake, as Margaret Funkhouser sifts the flour and Carol Patterson mixes the ingredients.

Home Economics

Carleen Werner and Kay Eschenbrenner study the art of table setting, while Mardell Frisch, Martha Wise, and Marilyn Ink place the silver.

Commerce

Shorthand

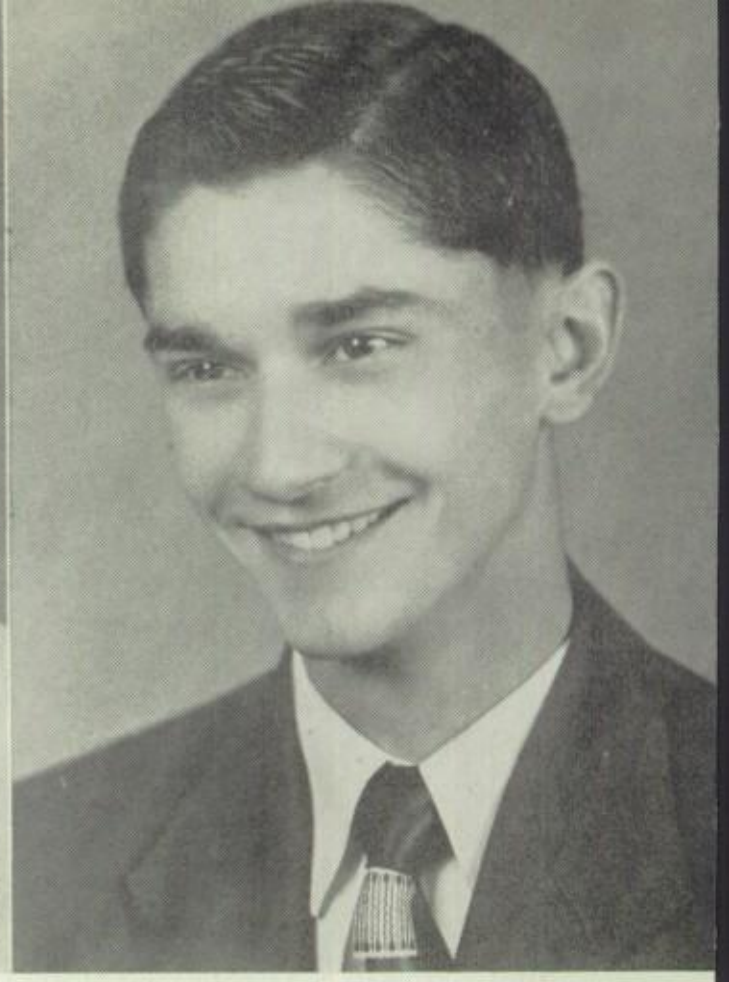
The shorthand students of today will be the secretaries at work tomorrow.

Typing

This ambitious group of junior typists have long since dicarded the Columbus system of discover, then land. Pictured are the following: Shirley Ley, Donna Ecos, Roy Phillips, James Meier, Yvonne Simonis, William Dell, Virginia Ranker, Mary Perna, Audrey Lavoe, Louisa Michaels.

Bookkeeping

Bookkeeping makes problems. This studious class makes problems its business.



The co-editors, Rachel Bland and Raymond Gaietto, deserve a big hand of applause. Besides their many other activities, they have found time to work painstakingly on the yearbook for hours at a time.

Calvertana

As a graduate thinks back to his high school days, he can vaguely remember the many activities and his fellow students. And so out of a dust-covered attic, he pulls a yearbook full of cobwebs but still intact. Leafing through the pages, he recalls his joys, sorrows, and friends as plainly as though he had just graduated yesterday.

And so it is with Calvert's yearbook, the Calvertana. The seniors on the staff have folded much work, worries, but also enjoyment into the making of the book.

By the click of the camera the seniors capture various activities throughout the past year; sports writers cover sports events; staff writers make student sketches; and stretching its imagination, the art staff develops new ideas for the drawings.

Out of this work comes a yearbook packed to the brim with memories of the best years of a person's life, his high school days.

Two energetic workers, Joseph Reino and Charles Masella, make their returns during the Calvertana patron drive to the business managers, Norma Phillips and Frederick Smith.

English

Showing their knowledge of present and future conditions are these winners of the Lions Club essay contest on "Communism, a Threat to Democracy"—William Dell, Leo Depinet, Kathleen Kimmet, Virginia Ranker, Frank Heller, Louis Crist, Catherine Lutz, Paul Pirrung, Ann Hamilton, Janet Wurm, Myra Rombach and Frederick Smith.

Taking over Sister Dominic's desk these junior English pupils, Thomas Tiell, Charles Schauder, Dorothy Breitigam, Sue Stefanelli, and Frances Burkart prove themselves quite capable.

Calvert News

Striving to put the Calvert News on top in thought, content, and Catholicity are co-editors, John McGowan and Janet Wurm, and associate editors - Eileen Vogel, Ann Hamilton, Joan Gibson, George Denny, Rachel Bland, Sue Huss, Kay Rombach, and Pauline Omlor.

With nimble fingers these typists prepare all of the material for the printer, while the girls on the circulation staff prepare the envelopes for mailing.

Writing feature stories and news articles is the assignment of these staff members on the first and second pages of the Calvert News.

Putting their all into their work are the students in charge of snapping the shutter, obtaining p a t r o n s, and the mailing of over 1300 copies a month.

With a swish of the pen, these students supply all of the art work for the News, while the alumni writers keep the reader up to date on the happenings of the graduates.

The sports writers faithfully followed the Calvert teams, in sunshine or in rain, recording all the details of the games for the pleasure of the reader.

Officers elected by the Glee Club are Margaret Schira, secretary, Rachel Bland, vice president, Nancy Fischer, accompanist, Catherine Lutz, librarian, and John San Gregory, president.

Glee Club

The Glee Club felt a great loss this year when Father Heringhaus was transferred to a pastorate in North Auburn. For twelve years Father directed the Glee Club and put a tremendous amount of time and effort into it. Even though he was busy with his new duties, Father found time to come back and direct the club for the Christmas play and the spring concert.

Sister St. Mark, Father's successor, has worked untiringly to perfect the singing for Father Shenk's feast day program, the annual Glee Club—Band Concert, the Commencement overture and the Te Deum.

First row, Paul Vande Kerkhoff, Louis Crist.

Altos: top row, Ann Hamilton, Rose Ann Gardner, Rachel Bland, Mary Carpenter.

Second row, Margaret Funkhouser, Margaret Schira, Rita Seislove, Dorothy Steinmetz.

First row, Charlotte Van Curen, Aleta Grillot, Helen Buccione, Eileen Vogel.

Blending in the background is the clarinet section-- Vivian Werner, Jeannette Kleinhenz, Marilyn Kuhn, Nancy Fischer, Jean Ann Welter, Regina Werling, Ann Ferrall, and Jane Rumschlag.

The mellow tones of the saxophones provide sweet music, while the French horns add to the fullness of the band. These instruments are played by Rita Seislove, Jacqueline Rex, Margaret Deer, Mary Carpenter, Pauline Omlor, Mary Ellen Meier, and Eileen Vogel.

The Calvert Band

Here comes Johnny Pfeiffer—Mary McClellan, Margaret Funkhouser, Carolyn Boes, and Marilyn Swope.

Helping to support the band are these trumpeters—Naomi Arbogast, Audrey Lavoe, Virginia Enoch, Ann Ley, Yvonne Smith, Rosalie Aiello, Margaret Schira, Doris Smith, and Diane Kistler.

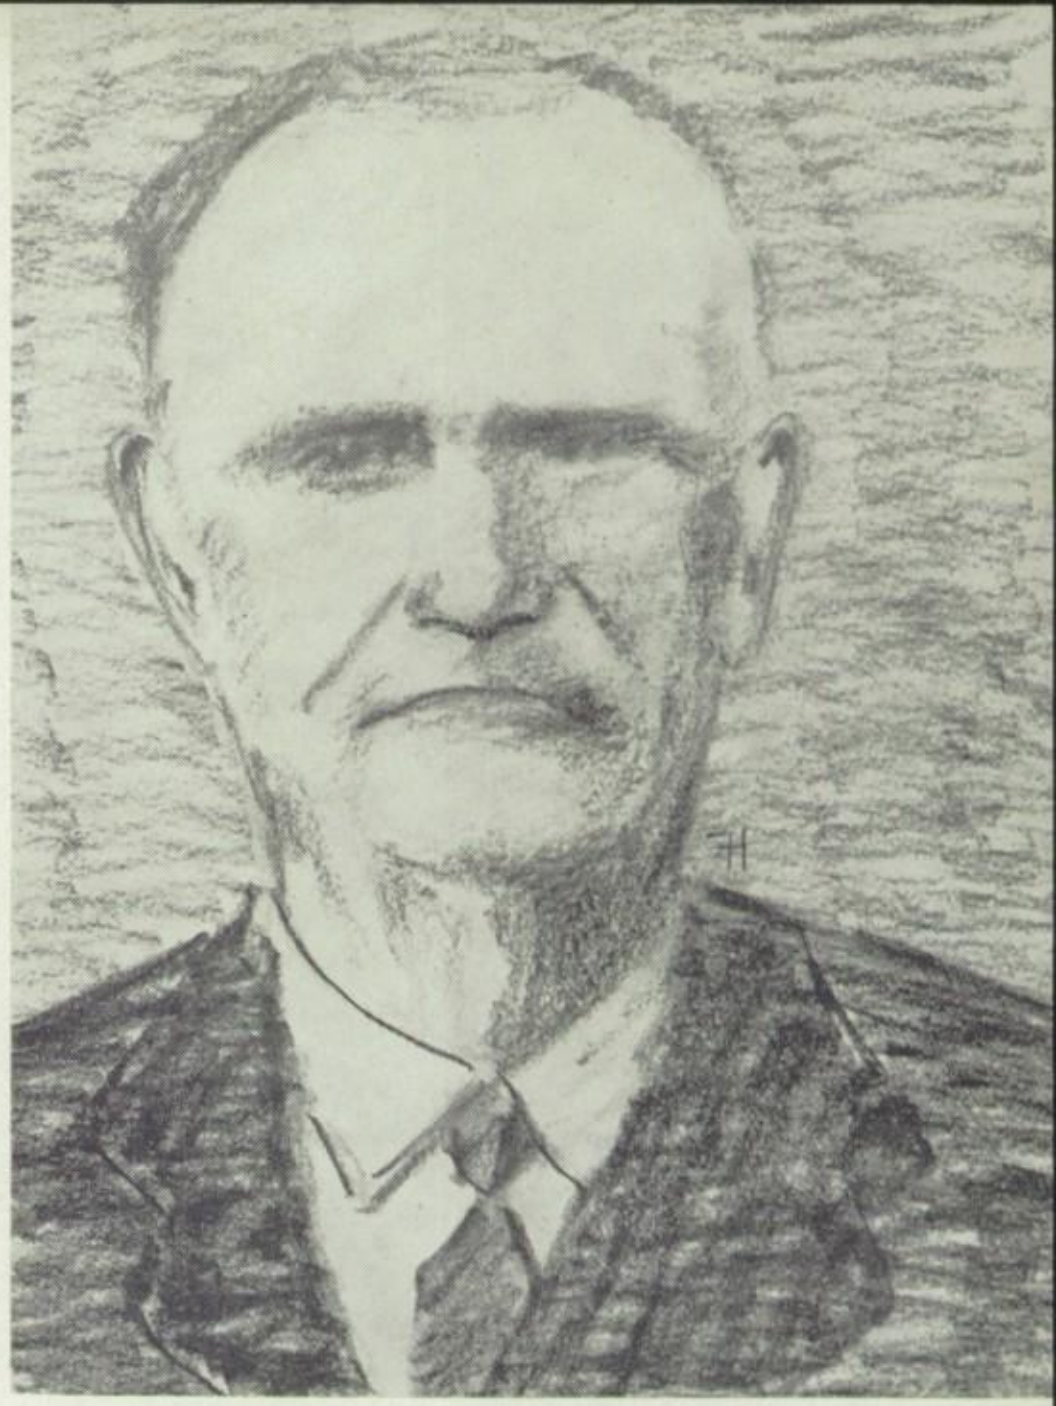
With the clanging of the symbols, the beating of the drums, and the ringing of the bell lyra, Mary Sue Baumgardner, David Molyett, Jan Baumgardner, Ann Steinbaugh do a fine job of keeping the band in the right step.

Majorettes

Calvert's strutting majorettes—Sue Stefanelli, Betty Weller, and Claranne Nigh—expertly led the band through the year.

Carrying the banners of the school are the flag bearers, James Wise and Louis Wise.

Sports



MR. JOSEPH C. ARNOLD

Joseph C. Arnold was truly a local pioneer of Ohio. He was well known for his honesty and integrity while serving as mayor of Tiffin for two terms, starting in 1907 and ending in 1911.

Mr. Arnold received his early schooling in the public schools of Tiffin and later attended Heidelberg College. Soon after graduating from Heidelberg, he became a railway mail service clerk, but his job with the railroad became short-lived when he was seriously injured in a train wreck.

Studying law under Judge George S. Seney was the next task undertaken by this ambitious young man, who was also serving as a deputy sherriff.

It was at this time that he married Ada Engstrom in Chicago. They were the parents of two daughters, Elva, wife of Mr. Albert H. Diringer, and Ruth, wife of Mr. A. A. Kramer, both of Tiffin.

For many years Joseph operated the Arnold Coal Company, which was purchased in the early twenties by the Fisher family.

The late Mayor John Dreitzler showed his confidence in Joseph by appointing him the City Service Director in 1926, a position which he held until his death which occurred Nov. 30, 1932.

Joseph Arnold, who attended St. Mary's Church, Tiffin, was an ardent Catholic and a genuine example of Catholic pioneers.

Assistant Coach

Assisting Mr. Zalar is Mr. Steve Ecos, capable and very willing. Realizing Mr. Zalar's need of an assistant football coach and basketball coach, Steve offered his services.

Although Steve is attending college and plans to become a head coach in the near future, he always manages to find time to assist Mr. Zalar in recruiting rugged and skilled squads.

Steve, a graduate of the class of '50, was president of his class and most valuable player on the football team.

Better known as "Greek", Steve, a junior at Heidelberg college, played football on the varsity squad in his sophomore year.

Senecas' Coaching Staff

Mr. Zalar, better known as "Zip" to his athletes, is the head coach of Calvert High School.

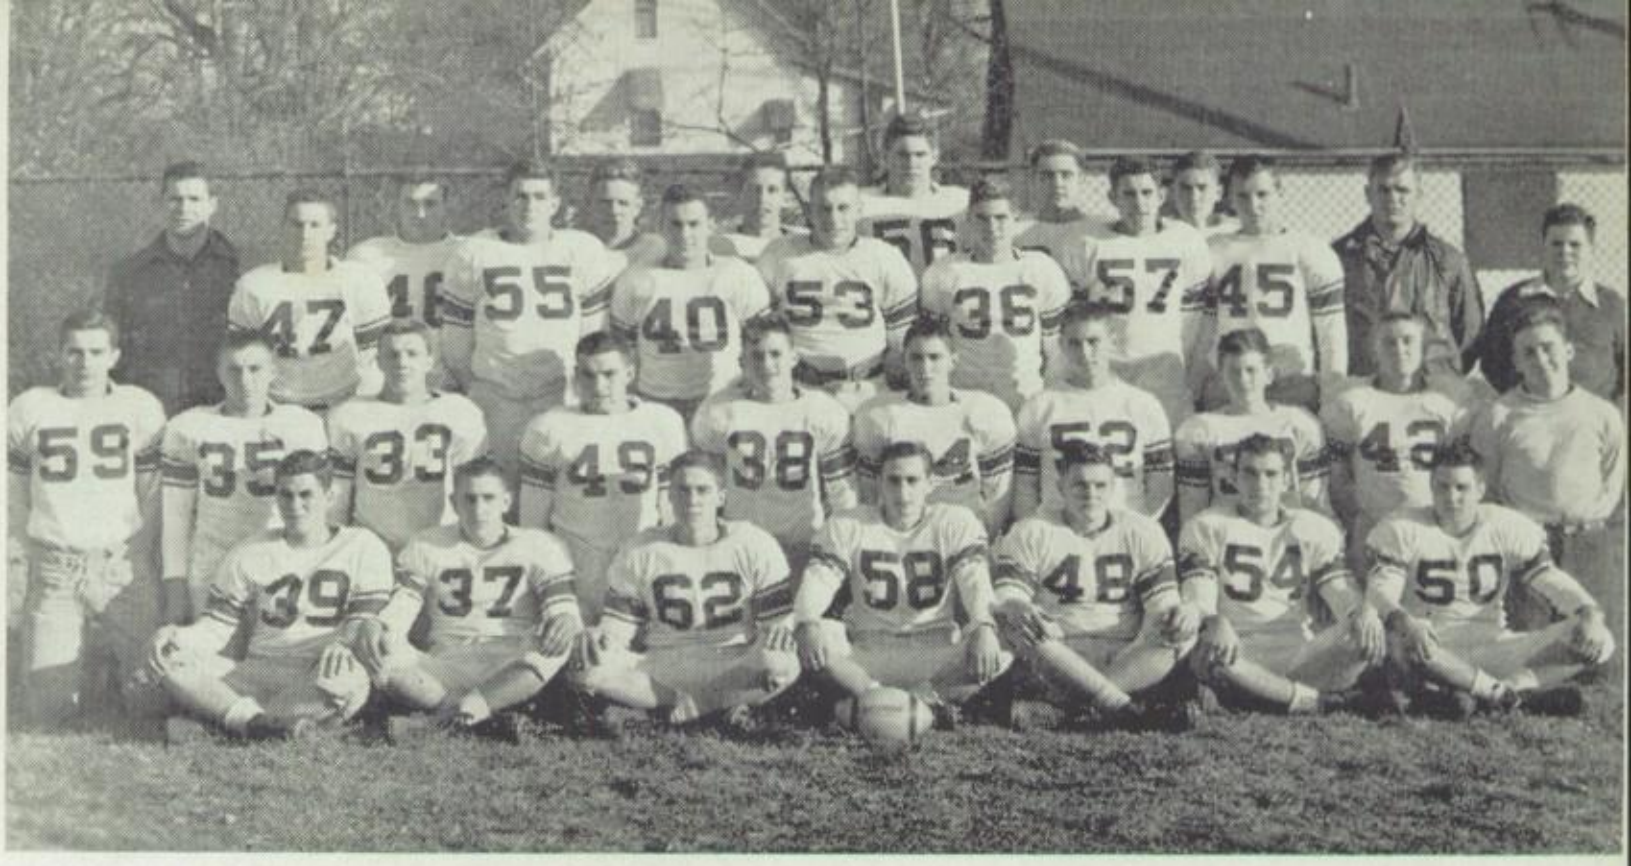
In many schools there is a football coach, a basketball coach, a baseball coach, and so on. They are surrounded with a flock of assistant coaches, but not Zip. He has to rely on the generous assistance of Steve Ecos.

Although Mr. Zalar was short handed, he gave Calvert teams to be proud of. He shaped a rugged football team out of some willing young men. He led the basketball squad to a highly complimentary season by breaking scoring records and having an impressive won-loss record.

So Calvert can only say "Thanks and congratulations for your manly example and your hard work, Coach "Zip" Zalar."

Cheerleaders

Leading the Senecas in their athletic activities are the cheerleaders — Carol Saylor, Catherine Lutz, Philomena Iannantuono, and Janet Wurm. These lively girls pepped up the fans by their "Fight - Fights" and "Go - Go Goes", and so lifted up the morale of the Blue and White.



First Row: Robert Leahy, James Meier, James Rochester, Charles Masella, Robert Mueller, John McGowan, Robert Amlin.
Second Row: George Denny, Richard Theis, James Kramer, Louis Crist, James Masella, John Lutz, David Dow, Patrick Leahy, Ronal Schmidutz, Terrance Riester, Mgr.

Football

Calvert's gridiron machine ended the season with a 6 and 3 record. This was a very commendable job, for at the start of the season, Calvert had only six returning lettermen.

The Senecas started the season with a victory over Galion, 14-12. The other victories were over Crestline, 45-0, Lorain St. Mary's, 22-6, Perrysburg, 33-0, Port Clinton, 12-6, and Lima St. Rose, 13-12. The losses were to Fremont St. Joseph's, 20-19, a powerful Ashland team, 13-0, and Columbian, 34-13.

Jim Kramer was chosen the most valuable player. Jim was a fast and shifty runner, and on defense was the standout of the secondary. His ability and spirit will be missed come next football season.

Joe Reino and John McGowan were chosen co-captains. Joe played center and was the spark plug of the Senecas' forward wall. His spirit and leadership helped the boys work as a well-organized unit. His fine play on offense and defense will be missed.

John played fullback and was exceptionally fast for this position. He hit the line when a short gain was needed, and also broke away for many long gains. The Senecas will find it hard replacing him.

The other graduating members of the Calvert squad were hard hitting guard, Robert Mueller. Frank Dariano, who was injured early in the season but came back strong later in the season, and did an excellent job at end.

Charles Masella did a fine job at the quarterback position. Karl Wilhelm was a good replacement who aided the team when called on to do his part.

George Denny and Donald Wangler were also scrappy lads who helped out from time to time.

Other boys to earn their letter were juniors: Richard Theis, James Rochester, James Meier, Dennis Bridinger, Louis Crist, Thomas Felter, David Dow, William Rohrbach, William Dell, Roy Phillips; and sophomore, Joseph Migliori.

Cagers who played a successful 1952-1953 basketball season are: John Wisenberger, manager, Joseph Scherger, Robert Amlin, Richard Sullivan, Thomas Zahn, Philip Falter.
James Kramer, Dennis Bridinger, Charles Smith, William Rohrbach, Joseph Migliori, Herman Reamer.

Basketball

High scores was the theme of the Calvert High School 1952-1953 basketball season.

In winning ten games while losing seven, the Senecas surprised everyone by setting both school and individual records. In the big games, they had what it takes to win.

While playing against tough opposition, the Zalarmen had top-notch school spirit; they displayed snappy ball handling with terrific scoring ability. Every game was a thriller from start to finish. The Senecas scored 1246 points for a new school record and made an average of 75 points a game.

Certainly Coach Zalar and the squad are to be remembered in the sport history of Calvert High.

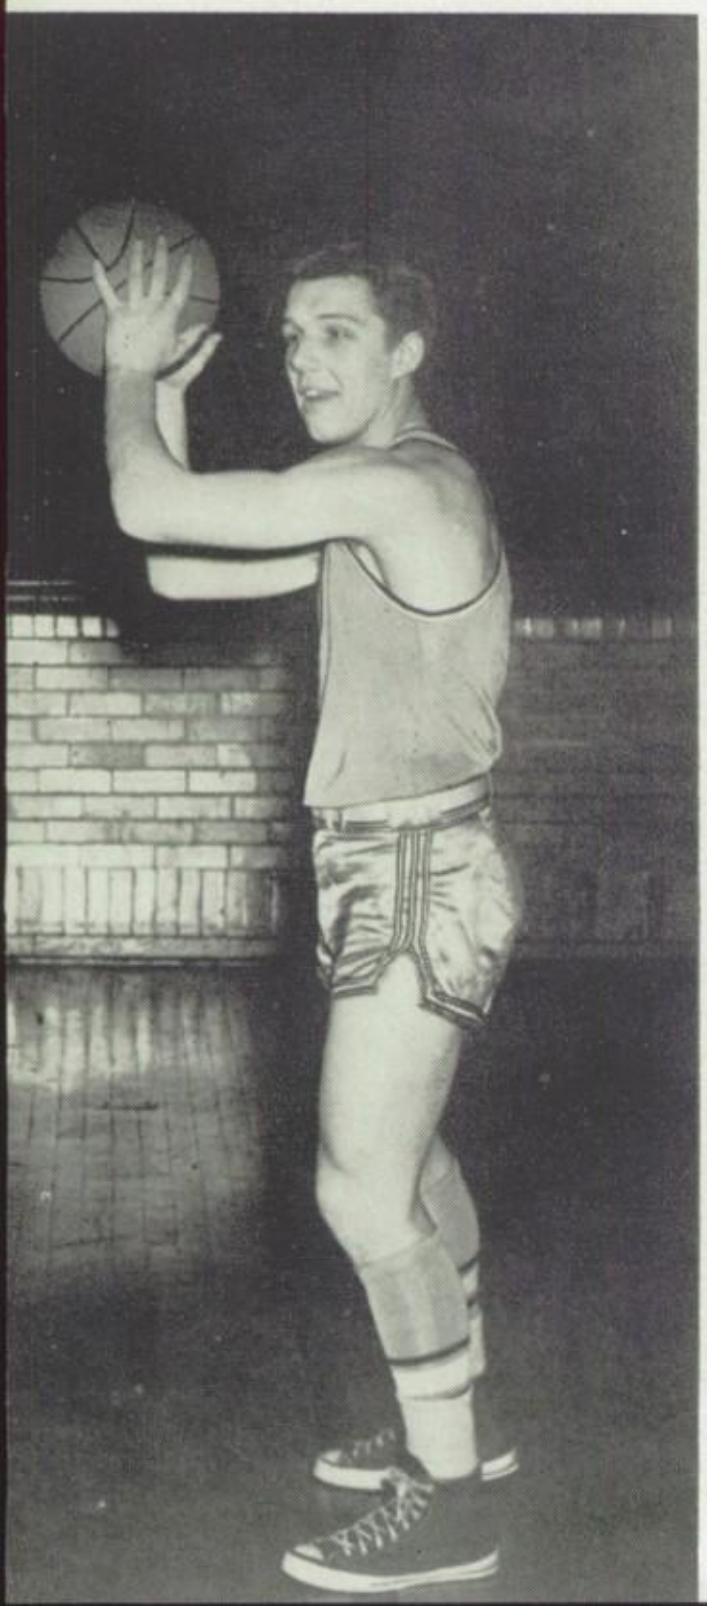
Co-Captains



Jim "Woosh" Kramer, the most valuable player in football, co-captain of the basketball squad, and a promising short stop in baseball, is the kind of a man most coaches dream about.

He is a leader, both on and off the field. Although Jim was outstanding in all his undertakings, he was always just one of the gang.

Small in stature, Jim has the drive of a bulldozer on the football field, and the speed of a deer on the hardcourt.

As "Woosh" is always a hustler, his admirers can be sure that Kramer will go far in sports.

One of the outstanding players, chosen as co-captain of the basketball squad, was Herm Reamer. He showed the fans that he could handle the ball like a pro. Always cool, never tense, Reamer kept the squad in the games.

Herm is a sharp shooter; he seldom misses; he hits when the chips are down. In closing the season, Herm finished with a 16.5 per game.

The team will miss the man who wore number 4 jersey for three years.

In baseball, another of Reamer's favorite sports, he played left field.

Religion Honor Roll

This year the honor of crowning Our Lady at the annual May Crowning goes to Rachel Bland and Raymond Gaietto.

To crown Our Lady Queen of May is a honor coveted by all Calvert students. The two were chosen from a group of ten.

Those attaining a B+ average in Religion and character rating for seven semesters at Calvert are:

Rachel Bland
William Brinkman
Raymond Gaietto
Ann Hamilton
John McGowan
Paul Pirrung
Patricia Romig
Eileen Vogel
Donald Wangler
Janet Wurm

Scholastic Honor Roll

Attaining an average of 90 per cent and above is a commendable achievement. It takes hard work and study to accomplish this goal. Those who obtained it can be proud of this achievement.

At Commencement Exercises the salutatory and valedictory are given by the girl and the boy with the highest averages, Eileen Vogel and John McGowan.

Following are the students with a 90 per cent or better average in all studies:

Eileen Vogel
Joan Gibson
Ann Hamilton
Myra Rombach
John McGowan
Rachel Bland
Frank Heller
Patricia Romig
Raymond Gaietto
Janet Wurm
Chadyne Goshe

1952-53 Alumni Review

ANNUAL REUNION

Many friendships were renewed on Sunday, June 1, 1952, as the graduates of Calvert and their families gathered in the Italian courtyard of the school for their annual reunion. The children received balloons and entertained themselves on the platform swings and in the open spaces of the convent garden. Volunteers from the junior class served soft drinks, cakes, and candies.

Officers of the past year—Edmund Kuebler, '28, Mrs. Earl Streaker (Mary Agnes Zeiger, '39), Mrs. Warren Cummings (Mary Lou Magers, '45), and Lee Baumgardner, '40—were representatives of the alumni at a High Mass in the Ursuline chapel on Sunday morning; the Mass was said for the living and deceased members of the Alumni Association.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

To honor the first graduating class and to celebrate its silver anniversary, the Rev. A. J. Gallagher, S. T. D., Calvert's principal from 1925-38, was a guest at a dinner at Club 224. In the future the dinner will be an annual event for the class celebrating its silver anniversary.

Father Gallagher also spoke at the inaugural meeting held during the reunion.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Elected officers for the year were also announced at the reunion. They are: Don Kurtzman, '42, president, Mara McNulty, '48, vice president, Paul Gillig, '36, treasurer, and Mary Schumm, '51, secretary. The officers will function with the assistance of Sister Mary Charlotte, alumni moderator.

MEETINGS

Final payment of $250.00 was made on the $500.00 pledge to the Calvert building fund.

Class pictures, that have been on display in the study hall, are in the process of being individually identified.

The association voted to study the possibility of revising the constitution to meet the demands of the enlarged alumni membership. There are now over 1500 graduates of Calvert.

In conjunction with the revision of the constitution, plans are being formulated to revise the file system, bring it up to date, and provide a permanent storage place in the school.

A committee was also appointed to determine what assistance the Alumni Association can give to the school library. The possibility of making this an annual alumni project is also being considered.

The first Sunday after graduation has been set as the date of the annual alumni reunion. This plan promises to remove previous conflicts with the parish commencement exercises.

SUMMER DANCE

Numerous posters, printed by volunteer workers at a meeting at the Knights of Columbus Home, announced the annual dance at Meadowbrook Park, Bascom, August 29.

Attendance at the dance was excellent, and everyone enjoyed the music furnished by Bob Montgomery's orchestra. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Karl Zalar, (Mary Ellen Borer, '36) and James Goetz, '47.
